Chapter 1 by Oliver Thomas-Couch

war...war never changes it is always a fight where one side kills the others for the better or worse.this is a story of the most well known war...world war 2.

Dave was a young man who grew up in the United Kingdom before world war, he had a good life in a relatively rich family in Holy-head until war started Hitler had come to power in Germany and he was sent 'welcome to hell' his commander told him after the training was complete and he was sent into the trenches after 2 days he saw the commander and about 29 soldiers killed.

Then he released he can avoid death by sacrificing others and he did just that many times he was about to be shot and pulled another man in front of him.

one fateful day the new commander told them to run out over the trenches he knew he would not survive and so he hid in the trench and was going to be shot for cowardice.

he was carried out and instead of hiding he sat there and righted his sins and then... his tale came to a swift end
